Landfill woes to add to taxes

County proposes $12 million budget

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County's proposed $12 million budget is expected to result in some increase in millage this year, but no one has offered any opposition so far.

Much of the increase is due to the county's current problems with waste disposal, Board President and Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas said.

The budget for the county landfill had to be more than doubled for the 1988-89 fiscal year to cover whatever temporary measures must be taken for solid waste disposal after the present landfill closes. The original closing date was Aug. 31 but the board has received a 60-day extension.

Cuevas said that figures do not provide enough money to allow the county to set aside funds to cover preparation and start-up costs of a long-term disposal method.

County Comptroller Ken Walker said the landfill budget went from $139,000 to about $323,000.

The proposal includes some good news for county employees. With a few exceptions, they will receive a five percent salary raise, Ken Walker said.

However, that salary increase will not become effective with the beginning of the new fiscal year Oct. 1. Instead, the raises will be delayed until Jan. 1.

The exceptions include the employees whose salaries are set by statute and those who work in the sheriff's department, where the salaries are set by the sheriff.

The sheriff's department will, under the proposal, receive five percent more than last year's budgeted salaries, Walker said. Sheriff Ronald Peterson may decide whether or not that amount will actually be applied to salaries.

The budget for the county public defender's office is more, but that is because a third attorney has been added. The budget went from $32,000 to $48,000 and does not include any pay raises, Walker added.

Two completely new areas are included in the proposal. Those include $60,000 for the recently created county recreation department and $31,000 for a central purchasing department the supervisors are in the process of setting up.

Most of the agencies that had asked for additional funds received them, Walker said.

Pearl River Junior College will receive another 1.5 mills for new construction, with a mill expected to generate about $116,000 this year, but the current valuation of the county has not yet been completed.

The Hancock County Library System is receiving additional millage as well, which is expected to generate about $208,000.

In another example, Retired Senior Volunteers Program asked for and received in the,

GUARDING the smoldering remains of his owner's trailer, a dog stands his ground following a Wednesday morning fire on Greene Street in Bay Side Park. The fire erupted while the residents, James and Sharon Cousins and their two children were out. According to the Cousins the trailer's electrical system had been malfunctioning for several weeks and the landlord was supposed to fix it Wednesday. "We lost everything," he said. The dog bit one of the firefighters who were working to extinguish the blaze. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Extension approved, landfill given 60 days

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has received a formal letter of notification from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers granting a 60-day extension of use of the county landfill at Catahoula.

What to do after that has not yet been determined, but the board has authorized County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson to draw up specifications for bids on a "green box" system.

A green box system, which gets its name from a color commonly used to paint dumpsters, is a garbage collection system rather than a disposal system, Board President Ronald Cuevas explained.

The dumpsters are placed at various collection points in the county and are emptied on a regular schedule. The responsibility of disposal then belongs to the green box contractor rather than the county.

Cuevas said the county has not yet decided whether to use a green box system to cope with the problem of a rapidly filling landfill that was originally scheduled to close on Aug. 31.

The landfill actually belongs to NASA and is part of the Stennis Space Center buffer zone, which gives the Corps jurisdiction over the request for the extension.

"We basically just want to know how much it would cost," the board president explained.

He called it "a possible tentative solution."

At present, the board has not been able to reschedule a meeting with the Pearl River County Board of Supervisors regarding a long-term solution to the landfill problem.

The board has received suggestions from State Senator Margaret "Wootsie" Tate and several waste disposal contractors that a joint solution involving Hancock and Pearl River counties and possibly adding more counties later would be the best long-term alternative.

According to Cuevas, Pearl River County officials were receptive to the idea of sharing

Bay junior high start to be delayed one day

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis Junior High School is scheduled to open one day later than the other schools in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

Superintendent of Education Roger Oge' said the delay is the result of a request for a contract extension between the school district and Starks Construction of Biloxi, the firm renovating the building.

He said the first scheduled student day for the rest of the schools will be Aug. 26, but the first day for the junior high will be Aug. 29.

The request was based on a 10-day emergency asbestos removal necessary after some 40-year-old pipes with asbestos insulation were discovered in a crawlway under the building.

No problems are anticipated with a one-day delay because an extra day is built into the school calendar, Oge' added.

Oge' had stated prior to the board meeting this week that he planned to recommend against the contract extension.

NEW SUPERVISOR—Hancock County Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise, left, reads the oath of office to Bill Whitfield, interim Beat Three supervisor. Whitfield was sworn in Monday as successor to Roger Dale Ladner, who resigned last month. The new supervisor was appointed to the board Aug. 1 but could not be sworn in until a public official's bond had been arranged. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

McQueen named managing editor

Janet S. McQueen has been named managing editor of The Sea Coast Echo in an announcement this week by Ellis Cuevas, Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc. executive vice-president and publisher.

McQueen, the former Janet Sallinger of Bay St. Louis, is currently a resident of Picayune. She attended St. Joseph's Academy and graduated from Bay Senior High School prior to receiving a bachelor of arts degree in communications from Mississippi State University.

She is married to Kelly McQueen, a certified public accountant and member of the Picayune City Council, and has two children, Lindsey, 11 and Christopher, 10. She is a daughter of Yvonne Sallinger of Bay St. Louis and the late Richard J. Sallinger.

In naming McQueen, Cuevas said, "I have worked with Janet as she has served on the staff of The Sea Coast Echo for 12 years in the advertising department and she was also responsible for editing and layout of the women's news section. I know she has the ability and newspaper experience to do a good job as managing editor."

McQueen is a board member of Picayune Junior Auxiliary and has served four years as public relations director. She was legislative chairman of Westside Elementary Parent-Teacher Association and public relations chairman for the American Heart Association.

McQueen stated, "I have enjoyed working with members of the business community while in The Sea Coast Echo's advertising department."

"I hope to increase local news coverage and make this newspaper a true reflection of the communities it serves," McQueen added.

McQueen replaces Edgar Perez, who has accepted a position with the Sun-Herald.

County named in suit, EPA asks for $192,091

BY DENA BISNETTE

The United States government has filed a $192,091 lawsuit against Hancock County at the request of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Hancock County Board of Supervisors Attorney Gerald Gex said the board had been served with the suit Monday through the office of Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise.

The money the suit is requesting was used to clean up hazardous wastes at the former Bergeron Marine site at Port Bienville Industrial Park in Pearlington.

The suit also requests that the county be requires to pay all legal, investigative and administrative costs incurred by the government, as well as prejudgement interest on the clean-up bill.

The lawsuit is a civil action filed under Section 107 of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, which under later amendments involved the Environmental Protection Agency's "Superfund" for hazardous waste clean-up.

The property in question consists of about 39 acres of land which according to the suit were used by Bergeron, a barge repair business that moved into Port Bienville in 1977 and later went bankrupt, to deposit, store and dispose of hazardous substances.

Those substances included tetrachloride and ethyl benzene, two chemicals used as solvents, and a variety of flammable wastes.

The clean-up occurred in 1984, about a year after Bergeron left the site. According to the suit, that clean-up was not consistent with the regulations of the National Contingency Plan governing chemical hazards and the $192,091 cost must be repaid to the Environmental Protection Agency.

The county is to file its answer to the suit with Assistant U.S. Attorney Donald M. Waits in Biloxi.

If the court calendar permits, the county has the option of consenting to have a U.S. magistrate render a decision on the the case rather than take it to trial.

Gex, who prior to becoming board attorney served as counsel for the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, which operates Port Bienville Industrial Park, said the county has 20 days to answer the suit.

proposal another $3000 this year.

The county also created a fund for a new agency, Coastal Family Health Center, expected to receive $10,000 in funds.

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District's expansion program is now having more direct effects on the county, which is appropriating $76,000 for sewerage.

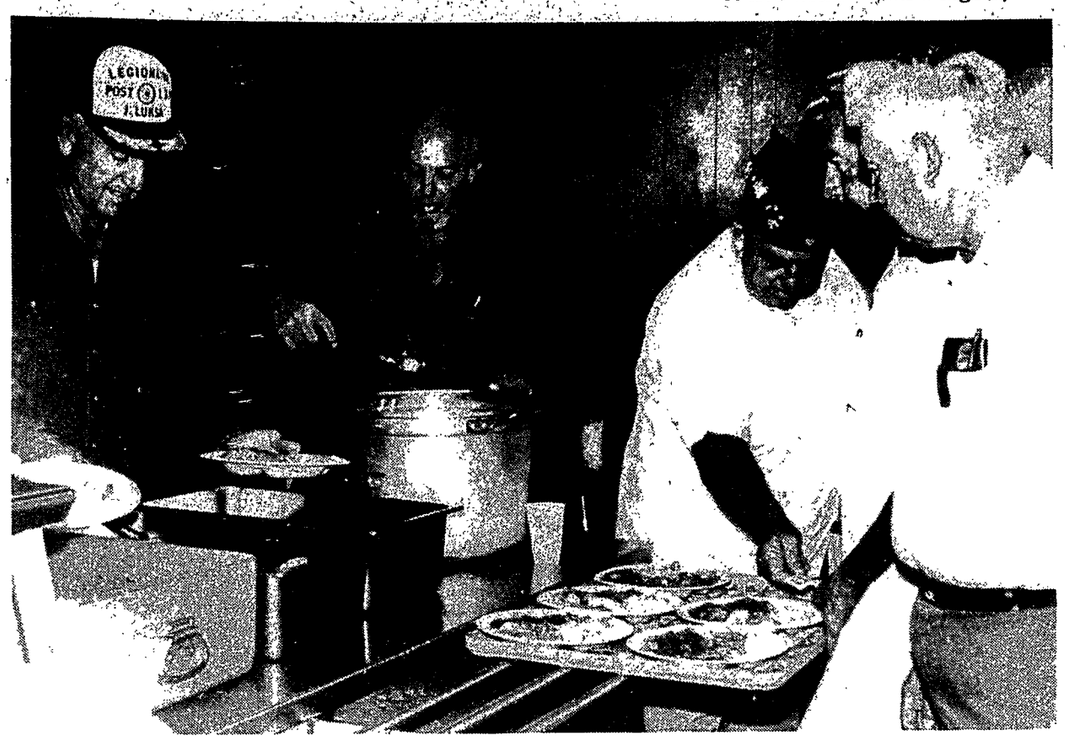

Some of the other items included are workman's compensation, which the county did not have to fund before, Walker said. However, the law that exempts the county from having to pay for workman's compensation is about to expire.

The comptroller said the supervisors plan to monitor all departments of the county more closely as far as budget is concerned by requiring a monthly accounting of how much of each one's appropriation has been spent or committed.

"This year everyone will have to live within their budgets," he said. "I feel the budgets that have been submitted are very realistic and don't see a problem with everyone living within his budget."

The deadline for final approval of the proposed budget is Sept. 15, the same date set by state law as the deadline for approval of the county millage rates.

The next board of supervisors meeting is 9 a.m. Aug. 25 in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

No tax, utility rate increase for Bay according to proposed budget

BY D.C. HARVILL

If the proposed Bay St. Louis budget for fiscal year 1989 is approved, city employees will receive more pay, while tax and utility rates will remain the same.

The proposed budget was presented to the city council at their meeting Tuesday by Mayor Victor Franckiewicz, along with a memo stating, "It wraps up the financial planning of our first term. It is a turning point in the city's fiscal health after having passed through some lean years, and it was planned to do just that."

Franckiewicz quotes from the 1986 budget message, projecting that in 1987 and 1988 the city would have to budget tightly, but in 1989 growth in the tax base and utility revenue should lessen the problem.

The mayor attributes the city's improved financial situation to several factors, among them recently completed, major capital improvement projects, including drainage improvements, a new water well, remodeling of the Valena C. Jones Building and renovation of City Hall, so that those expenditures will not be reflected on this year's budget.

Also credited are new, lower gas rates, a new phone system and a new phone system in city hall.

According to Franckiewicz, Bay St. Louis employees are underpaid compared to those of other cities in Mississippi; public works employees make 19 percent less than the state average, while Bay policemen earn 34 percent less.

He said that salaries can't be brought up to the average in one fiscal year, but the budget calls for a pay increase, the first since 1986.

The raises provided for in the budget, averaging 12.5 percent, will favor the city's police and fire department employees.

In addition to the pay increases, the budget includes provisions for the city's involvement in a proposed drug task force to include Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County; and the purchase of a new Class A fire truck which would improve the city's fire rating.

The mayor said it even may be possible to reduce utility rates in the fall if lower costs can be negotiated by the city.

"It sounds too good to be true," Councilman-at-large Wilmer Seymour said.

Franckiewicz however said "the budget isn't voodoo economics," and that it should pass intact with only minor changes.

Before the budget becomes official, citizens' input will be heard at a public hearing no later than September 6.

Due to the City of Waveland having asked Bay St. Louis and Hancock County to vacate the tri-government animal shelter located in Waveland, the budget contains an increase in the amount allocated to animal control.

The city is discussing with the county the possibility of opening a joint shelter and the Humane Society has offered its assistance, Franckiewicz said.

In other business the council:

—Tabled action on an ordinance streamlining the the issuance of development permits by consolidating the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Board of Adjustments.

a long-term waste disposal system, probably some type of incinerator, but the last joint meeting on the matter had to be postponed because Hancock County was coping with the damage from Tropical Storm Beryl.

Pearl River County has no landfill and presently contracts with a hauling firm that takes about half the garbage to a privately owned landfill near Picayune and about half to a landfill outside the county.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

In a drive to register more qualified electors in Hancock County, the circuit clerk's office will have representatives at the Diamondhead and Pearlington Precincts on Saturday from 8 a.m. until noon.

County officials, along with several organizations, are urging every unregistered person in our county to do so prior to November's General Election.

It is very important for everyone to be able to vote, as every vote does count in our governmental system.

We as Americans can select who our leaders will be. There are many people in the world who have no voice at all as to who their leaders will be.

The Republican Convention in New Orleans appears to be moving along on schedule.

I have managed to see Evelyn McPhail on television once.

There surely is a very large group of folks attending the convention from across the nation.

Early risers do not want to forget the Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition today at 7:30 a.m. at Scafidi's Wheel Inn.

Tom Suttle, manager of Dupont's DeLisle Plant, is the scheduled speaker.

Suttle is to talk on the plant's $100 million expansion.

I hope to see you at the Morning Edition.

It seems we were crying for rain only a short time ago and now we are wishing for it to stop raining.

One minute the sun is out and the next it is raining. It has been a long time since we have seen so many changes in the weather.

Before too long we will be complaining about the cold weather.

IN CONGRESS

By Representative Trent Lott

A SIGN OF PEACE

When the United Nations was formed in 1945, it was done so with good purpose. The intent was simple; create a body where countries around the world, large and small, could settle their differences by way of peaceful negotiation rather than destructive warfare.

This was a good idea, but one that hasn't always worked. The Middle East, Persian Gulf, Central America and Southeast Asia are classic examples. Expansionism, religious fanaticism and territorial battles aren't disputes easily resolved and perhaps that is why the U.N. hasn't always succeeded in its mission, but more and more the world is beginning to prefer talk at the peacetable over fighting on a battlefield.

As one news magazine recently put it, "the winds of war seem to be abating."

After eight years, the Soviet Union began pulling its 115,000 troops out of Afghanistan. Cuba, Angola and South Africa have agreed in principle to end the longstanding Angola and Namibia conflicts. And just recently, we've witnessed other encouraging developments.

Vietnamese troops are leaving Cambodia and Vietnam is preparing for talks about a permanent solution. And Iran and Iraq now appear to be serious about ending their eight-year war.

Some attribute this new round of negotiations to simple fatigue. The nine-year commitment in Cambodia has depleted Vietnam's economy to dangerous levels and in southwestern Africa the Pretoria government was facing the same dillema.

Others say attrition is the reason. Since World War II, more than 140 wars have claimed at least 14 million lives.

But whatever the reason, we should be encouraged. Peaceful solutions, when they can be agreed to, are normally in everyone's best interest.

The League of Nations, established after World War I, taught us that all conflicts can't be worked out peacefully, but when possible, all efforts should be made to pursue peaceful ends.

Peace through strength works, not just for the U.S. but for the free world as a whole. This is a lesson we must not forget.

Prisoner of War Medal Available

A Prisoner of War Medal is now available at no cost from the Department of Defense to any person who was held captive as a POW after April 5, 1917, according to Jeff R. Ryker, Jackson VA Regional Office director.

There are approximately six hundred U.S. former POW's now living in Mississippi.

The medal is accorded a very high precedence in relation to other military awards and decorations.

It immediately follows decorations for individual heroism, meritorious achievement or service, and ahead of any other medal or ribbon.

The POW Medal recognizes the special service prisoners of war gave to our country and the suffering and anguish they endured while incarcerated.

Veterans organizations and officials are authorized to receive applications from eligible former POW's or next of kin, forward them to the Department of Defense, and present the medals at an appropriate ceremony.

The November 11, 1988 "Veterans Day" activities at the War Memorial Building in Jackson will feature a special POW Medal Presentation by the Adjutant General of the Mississippi National Guard.

For further information on the POW Medal, veterans and survivors may call the Jackson VA Regional Office toll free at 1-800-682-5270 statewide; 693-6166 from Meridian; 432-5996 from Biloxi/Gulfport; or 965-4873 from Jackson.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

JACKSON— Secretary of State Dick Molpus is left on the horns of a dilemma as trustee of state lands because of the landmark Mississippi tidelands case upheld earlier this year by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Known as the Cinq Bambini (Italian for five children) Partnership case, the high court ruling affirmed a 1986 state Supreme Court decision firmly establishing the state's right of ownership in trust of all coastal lands below mean high tide.

In the case, which began as a mineral lease dispute in 1978 in Hancock County, the high court upheld the state's ownership of all lands "subject to the ebb and flow of the tide," dating back to 1817, when Mississippi became a state.

Potentially, the ruling could have devastating economic impact on thousands of private business enterprises, residences and other facilities which over the years were built on tidelands or on filled land in the tidelands.

Since the case was finalized in May, Molpus has been trying to develop a tidelands leasing plan under a 1986 state law which he hopes will balance the economic interests and the right of public access.

He has a 25-member 'blue ribbon' Coast citizens commission at work preparing recommendations for a tidelands management plan he hopes to implement next January, subject to public hearings on the Coast.

While on one hand Molpus has been commended for dealing with the issue quickly in a democratic fashion, he has at the same time been criticized by some worried property owners and developers for taking any steps at all towards implementation of a tidelands management plan.

Now an even more serious challenge to Molpus' well-intentioned handling of the tidelands in light of the Bambini case has come from a former assistant Mississippi attorney general who had a key role in the state's successful litigation of the case.

Jean R. Swift, now of Westport, Conn., contends that the state, acting through Molpus, does not have power to grant leases on the tidelands for any but a 'public purpose' within narrowly defined limits.

"If they (Molpus' commission) are going to try to say that it is a public purpose to give a lease to a restaurant, that would certainly be illegal," Swift told this column.

The tidelands, she said, are held in "public trust for all the people of the state, and they have never given the right to sell or lease tidelands to private people for private purposes."

The public trust doctrine, she said, guarantees forever the right of the people to use tideal waters and tidelands for lateral passing and repassing on the beach, transportation, fishing, fowling, bathing, swimming and other recreational uses.

Certain facilities such as a marina or a shipyard, Swift said, "could be given a lease as a public purpose, as long as the public can still have access to these lands."

The former state assistant attorney general had prepared the arguments given in the state Supreme Court, and the briefs before the U.S. Supreme Court on behalf of the state.

She contends that the 1986 state law under which the secretary of state may give tideland leases up to 30 years, with an option to renew, constitutes giving an unconstitutional fee simple title.

And, she added, a provision in the law that lessees may 'make improvements' which presumably would include filling or otherwise altering the natural contition of the tidelands, would violate the public trust doctrine and the state constitution.

Molpus said he sees his job as trustee of the tidelands now is to "balance the public's right of access with private property and economic development interests."

He added, "You have literally hundreds and thousands of business enterprises on this land. They have paid taxes on it to the city and they have their life's investment in it. I have an obligation not to bring financial ruin to them."

Swift, said Molpus, "is taking a pure view in a world where the factors are not pure. If there was not the development that is already there, it would be a lot simpler."

But Swift, who foresees the 1986 tideland leasing law being very easily knocked down in court, said, "It's too bad this has been allowed to go on so long, but the interests in the rest of the people in the state must be protected, too."

A report on the Special Legislative Session

Voters to decide on unit system

Voters will have a right to decide this fall if they want countywide road management or prefer the beat system in their county under a major overhaul of county government approved by Mississippi legislators during the August special session.

In addition, the Legislature voted to make several changes in purchasing laws in an effort to correct problems that have arisen around the state under a strict interpretation of existing statutes. Backers say the revisions will make the laws more workable, easier to comprehend, and still protect the public interest.

The seven-day session was called by Gov. Ray Mabus to deal with county government but, at legislators' request, the governor agreed to allow the purchasing laws to be included. Only matters authorized by the governor may be considered in a special session.

Known as the County Government Reorganization Act of 1988, the bill requires each county to establish and operate a central purchase system and inventory control system, starting in January 1989. Counties may hire new employees or assign present workers to carry out these duties, but the bill specifies existing personnel should be utilized "to the extent practicable."

A referendum will be held in each county Nov. 8 to determine if voters prefer a centralized system of road administration under a county road manager or the beat system where each supervisor is responsible for road work in his own district.

The countywide plan must be implemented by Oct. 1, 1989, in counties voting for the centralized system.

Several counties already operate a county-unit plan of road administration but a majority of the 82 counties are under the beat system. Some have central purchasing and a beat system for road work.

Members of the Legislature have been sharply divided over whether county-unit should be mandatory in all counties. Separate versions of a county-unit bill were passed by the House and Senate in the regular 1988 legislative session, but efforts to resolve differences were not successful and the bill died in a conference committee.

The far-reaching measure passed in the special session closely resembles the earlier House-passed bill and deals with almost all facets of county government, including mandatory appointment of a county administrator and a centralized personnel system in counties that vote for a unit system. The chancery clerk could be designated as county administrator and purchase clerk, but could not also serve as receiving clerk for the county. Road administration would be under a county road manager.

An exemption was allowed for rural Issaquena County in view of its small population, permitting the chancery clerk to serve in a wide combination of positions.

Any county voting in favor of a centralized road system would be allowed under the bill to vote again in 1995 on whether to go to a beat system. A subsequent referendum would be authorized within two years if a county rejects the countywide system this year.

A Home Rule section was approved to give counties more flexibility in handling local matters for which no provision has been made by state law. The change does not apply to levying taxes, issuing bonds, changing election laws, and other specified activities. A similar Home Rule law was passed in 1985 for municipalities.

One of the key changes in purchasing laws was to eliminate a requirement that purchases by governing outhorities of $500 or less must not exceed state contract prices as set by the State Office of General Services. Local officials say this has been a major hindrance in trying to comply with purchasing laws, sometimes causing unnecessary delays in making small purchases and preventing their buying some items on the local level.

The bill will permit purchases of $500 or less without regard to the state contract price if the cost is not excessive and in line with the "usual and customary price" of the commodity in the local area.

Some of the other revisions in purchasing laws would:

—Include public employees in criminal and civil penalty provisions for violating purchase laws; provide stiffer penalities for certain violations; and require that criminal intent be shown for criminal penalties to apply.

—Allow governing authorities to buy commodities from the state contract vendor or any source offering the identical item if the price does not exceed the state contract price.

—Exempt the purchase of library books from bid requirements; delete the exemption for audiovisual items; and clarify an existing law to exempt group purchases by 10 or more hospitals from bid requirements.

—Require freight and shipping charges to be included in determining the lowest and best bid under purchase laws.

The Legislation, recommended by a House-Senate conference committee, was a compromise for separate versions of the bill passed by the two chambers. Its passage followed exhaustive committee meetings, floor debate and negotiations by House and Senate conferees.

The governor allowed a number of additional bills to be introduced in the final hours of the session, including a bill to provide a 20 percent salary increase for county supervisors. A similar bill was passed in the regular session but vetoed by the governor. Several local and private bills also were approved before the session adjourned.

Only the governor has the power to call a special session. While nobody questioned the governor's prerogative, many legislators had preferred to wait until the regular session in January to tackle county-unit. Others felt the chances for passage of a county-unit bill would be improved in a special session.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

A plan which would offer assistance to Mississippi's Second Congressional District in its battle gainst poverty is receiving more resistance than expected as congressional committees begin considering the proposal.

The Mississippi River Delta Development Commission, sponsored in the House by Mississippi Congressmen Jamie Whitten and Mike Espy, would create a commission to study a seven-state area adjacent to the Mississippi River, which is considered to be the poorest region in the country at this time.

The Delta Development Commission resembles the Appalachian Regional Commission, which has been around for nearly a quarter of a century.

The purpose of these commissions is to study the area to help the region help itself. It will look into the possibility of developing jobs in the region and ways to work with local officials to develop the area economically.

Critics argue that the plan is just throwing money at the problem, but that is just what is happening now. The federal government spends more in the state of Mississippi than the state pays in federal taxes.

Hancock Republicans host reception for Lott

The Hancock County Republican executive committee recently hosted a reception at the Diamondhead Community Center honoring Trent Lott, candidate for United States Senate. Approximately 200 people attended. Also present were candidates Larkin Smith, candidate for House of Representatives, Buddy Broadway, unsuccessful candidate for Highway Commissioner, and John Crouch, candidate for Supreme Court Judge.

Dr. Mike Smith, chairman, introduced the candidates and members of the executive committee. Norma Haas, president of the Hancock County Republican Women's club, invited all the ladies present to join the group which meets on the first Thursday of the month. She also presented the club's annual scholarship award to Cynthia Martinolich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Martinolich of Bay St. Louis. Cynthia is a 1988 graduate of Our Lady Academy.

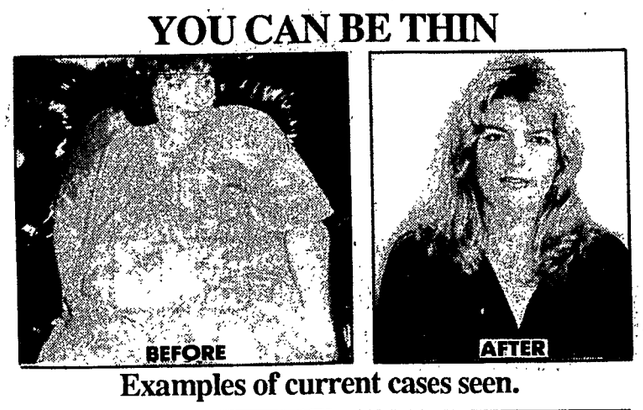

Persons interested in assisting the Republican Party in the upcoming election may call Mike Smith at 467-9608 or Norma Haas at 467-6149.

Hurricane preparation should include insurance protection

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Many residents of areas subject to hurriances often overlook an important part of being prepared: adequate property insurance.

Harold T. Duryee, who heads the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), points out that while most homeowners' insurance policies provide coverage for damage from wind, they do not cover the serious damage caused by flooding that usually accompanies hurricanes.

According to Duryee, residents of both coastal areas and inland communities should consider their need for flood insurance protection, especially now that the 1988 hurricane season is underway.

Along the Coast, flood waters are caused by tremendous storm surges which bring ocean waves that rise 20 feet or more above normal sea level.

While the hurricane-force winds die down as the storm moves over land, the vast quantities of water within the system can cause major flooding well inland from the coast.

In 1972, Hurricane Agens was downgraded from hurricane status shortly after landfall.

With winds of less than 45 mph, Agnes inundated more than a dozen states from Florida to New York.

Property damage due to flooding amounted to more than $2 billion, making Agnes the country's most expensive natural disaster.

According to FIA's Duryee, more than 95 percent of these losses were uninsured.

The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) was created by Congress to provide previously unavailable flood protection and continues to be the only source of flood insurance for most property owners.

Overseen by FIA, the NFIP offers protection against flood damage in nearly 18,000 communities throughout the U.S. that have adopted and enforced floodplain management ordinances.

Coverage is not automatic; homeowners, business owners, and renters must purchase this insurance to be protected against flood losses. It may be purchased through any property/casualty insurance agent or broker.

FIA is a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), and part of its mission is to inform the public about the availability of flood insurance because there are so many uninsured buildings at risk of flooding.

"There are more than two million flood insurance policyholders," Duryee said. "But estimates are that there are between six and eight million insurable buildings at risk. This means there could be as many as six million uninsured buildings," Duryee warned.

There is normally a five-day waiting period before flood insurance policies become effective, so they must be purchased before storm warnings are issued.

While an insurance agent can provide the most specific information to local situations, NFIP does have a toll free number for further assistance.

The number is 1-800-638-6620 and the hours of operation are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Seedlings available through local forestry commission

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

With the tree planting season quickly approaching, now is the time to order seedlings. Seedlings are available from several sources such as Weyerhaeuser Company, International Paper Company, Champion International as well as the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

The seedling species available through the Mississippi Forestry Commission this year include Bald Cypress, Green Ash, American Sycamore, Longleaf Pine along with regular and improved varities of Slash and Loblolly Pine.

Pine seedlings are packaged with 1,000 seedlings in each bundle. The price varies between the different species and varieties. Regular Slash or Loblolly Pine seedlings cost $23 per bundle, improved Slash or Loblolly Pine seedlings cost $31 per bundle and Longleaf Pine seedlings cost $32 per bundle. The pine seedlings will be available for pickup from late December through the first of March.

Hardwood seedlings may be purchased at a cost of $10.80 per bundle of 100 seedlings; $27 per bundle of 250 seedlings; $54 per bundle of 500 seedlings or $108 per bundle of 1,000 seedlings. Hardwood seedlings will be available for pickup in the middle of February.

Anyone interested in purchasing seedlings from the Mississippi Forestry Commission or to receive more information may call 467-4728.

Unit system passes, local officials pleased

BY DENA BISNETTE

A bill requiring all Mississippi counties except one to hold a referendum on the county unit system has met with favor from local public officials.

Hancock County, acting through the authorization of the board of supervisors, voted to go into the unit system of county government more than a year ago.

According to Hancock County Board of Supervisors President Ronald Cuevas, the county will try to find out from the state auditor's office whether there is a way to be exempt from conducting the referendum as part of the Nov. 8 election, which is already crowded with two special elections for the Beat Three and Beat Four supervisor posts.

The bill, which passed Tuesday to end a seven-day special session of the state legislature, allowed an exemption from the referendum for Issaquena County, which is basically rural with a population of "only a few thousand," according to State Representative J.P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis.

However, it does not contain exemptions for counties like Hancock, which have already adopted the county unit system on their own. Compretta said that provision was taken out of the compromise version drafted from the house and senate versions of the bill.

That version had called for certification of the counties under the unit system through the state auditor's office by Oct. 1.

Hancock County, where county road maintenance, purchasing and other functions have already been centralized, already complies with all requirements except the designation of a county administrator, Cuevas said, adding that he was basing his current opinion only on media reports because he did not yet have a copy of the bill Wednesday afternoon.

"I think the original disagreement in the matter was simply that the supervisors wanted it voted on by the people," the board president said, referring to a unit system bill that died during the regular 1988 legislative session.

State Senator Margaret "Wootsie" Tate of Poplarville, who with State Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis and a third senator, Stephen Hale, voted to send the bill back for further revisions, said she is not entirely satisfied with the final product, which has 140 pages and "a lot of technical problems."

However, she said she feels the bill addressed the major problem of concern to the public, the opportunities the beat system offerred for corruption in purchasing as evidenced in "Operation Pretense."

She called the purchasing provisions "fairly reasonable," but felt even that was watered down.

She said the senate version of the bill was passed Saturday and made "everything mandatory."

Taylor, who is campaigning for a congressional post, was unavailable for comment Tuesday and Wednesday.

The bill, titled "The County Government Reorganization Act of 1988," requires each county to establish and operate a central purchasing system as well as inventory control, using existing personnel to "the extent practicable" but with the option of adding new personnel if needed.

Implementation deadline is Oct.1, 1989.

The measure is "almost completely a house bill," said Tate, whose district includes the Leetown and Crane Creek precincts in Hancock County.

It includes mandatory appointment of a county administrator, who can be the chancery clerk if he does not also act as the county's receiving clerk, as well as a centralized personnel system; a centralized road maintenance system; and home rule, something counties have been trying to obtain for the past several years.

Home rule, which has applied to municipalities since 1985, gives counties the right to handle many local matters not covered specifically by statute. Home rule does not apply to levying taxes, issuing bonds, changing election laws or other matters governed by specific provisions in the Mississippi Code.

Compretta, who was a proponent of the unit system as long ago as 1983 when it was vehemently opposed by the Mississippi Association of Supervisors, called the bill "a definite step in the right direction" and said he feels Hancock County complies with "everything they (the state auditor's office) want."

He said the purchasing provisions would "solve 90 to 95 percent of our problems."

He also praised Governor Ray Mabus for calling the special session, stating that special sessions can be particularly efficient for handling a high profile issue without getting bogged down into other matters.

Because some areas of the state are "not ready for the unit system," Compretta said he expects the issue to remain controversial.

"It will be interesting to see in November what the consensus of the state is," he said.

The bill allows the counties where voters favor the unit system to conduct another referendum in 1995. In counties where the unit system is rejected, a subsequent referendum is authorized within two years.

"It's a giant step for progress in the State of Mississippi as far as county government is concerned," Compretta said.

UP IN THE AIR—Everyone had a good laugh who saw this Bay St. Louis dump truck recently at the end of Ulman Street. City worker Douglas Almond, looking up in disbelief, said, "They told me to come down here; something was wrong with one of the trucks, but I never expected this. The truck "reared-up" while dumping a load of fill at the site of a park being constructed at the Ulman Pier. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

State government reorganization report available at public libraries

A copy of the governor's study committee report on reorganization of state government has been placed in all 252 public libraries in Mississippi and is now available for check-out to library patrons.

The Mississippi Library Commission, in cooperation with the study committee, produced and distributed copies of the much-talked about report.

Reorganization of the Executive Branch of Mississippi's State Government, A Report of the Executive Branch Reorganization Study Committee, includes recommendations on consolidating more than 150 existing state agencies into 12 executive branch department.

With crowds of up to 400, residents in Jackson, Biloxi, Meridian, Greenwood and Tupelo aired concerns to members of the study committee.

Copies of the report for all Mississippi public libraries were partially funded under the Library Services and Construction Act administered by the Mississippi Library Commission.

Train yourself to be conscious of color everywhere you go; in hotels, shops, restaurants, theaters, homes and offices. Which schemes make you feel comfortable? Look at paintings in an art gallery, or visit a furnishings store or department and look at the use of colors in oriental and dhurrie rugs.

Look at the use of color in interior design magazines. Save those magazine color schemes that appeal to you most, along with fabric swatches and paint chips.

Then take time to look at them all together and see what they tell you. Do the illustrations you have chosen have certain colors and styles in common? Be guided by them because they are obviously the ones you feel most comfortable with and they will provide a reliable starting point.

When you have decided on the main background color, you are ready to begin building a color scheme for the entire room. A very simple, but effective way, is to use one color livened up with accent colors in cushions, rugs, an odd chair, pictures, books and plants.

This one color can be introduced in all different shades and tones. Varying the textures within this sort of monochromatic color scheme can be just as interesting and lively as a color scheme full of more obvious contracts.

At least one contrast color, even if only a large plant or mass of flowers on cushions will help to emphasize the harmony of the background color scheme.

Spend some time in the paint and wallpaper store and in the furniture gallery in your area becoming more aware of the colors and the color combinations that are most appealing.

USM Eagle Express caravan plans Hancock County stop

The Eagle Express caravan, The University of Southern Mississippi's football season promotional tour, will begin its final four tour days on Aug. 22-25. These tour days will cover 21 towns in south Mississippi. The Eagle Express is scheduled on Aug. 25 to stop at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in Bay St. Louis at 4 p.m.

EAGLES

At each stop, personnel will make a brief presentation about the upcoming season, the team, and season tickets. Season tickets will be on sale during each stop. Individuals in attendance at each rally will register for one season ticket to be given away. Other prizes from local merchants will be available at some stops.

"The talk will be football," said USM public relations director Bud Kirkpatrick. "We want our students, alumni and friends of the university to have a preseason briefing about the team, the tickets, and get caught up in the thrill of it all," Kirkpatrick said.

Touting the promotional theme "USM, The Attack is Back!" an intensive season ticket promotion is underway at USM. The promotion has given rise to off-campus season ticket outlets, the opening of a USM Football Store in Cloverleaf Mall in Hattiesburg, a phonathon to alumni, a separate faculty and staff campaign, and the caravan scheduled for south Mississippi next week.

"This is a fun time. There is a new and renewed enthusiasm for USM football. We have a new head coach and staff, new pricing structures and outlets for tickets, a new pact with the Independence Bowl, and other things which point to heightened awareness and enthusiasm. Our expectations are great, and we want to transmit this to our students, alumni and friends at each stop," Kirkpatrick said.

A campaign has just begun to sell-out Roberts Stadium for the first game of the season. USM takes on Stephen F. Austin at 7 p.m. on Sept. 3.

Information about the stops is available by calling, toll free in Mississippi, 1-800-CALL USM, or 1-800-844-5000 during normal business hours Monday through Friday.

Children's fishing rodeo to be hosted by Jaycees

The Bay-Waveland Jaycees will conduct a children's fishing rodeo Saturday, Aug. 27 at the Garfield Ladner Memorial Fishing Pier on the beach in Waveland.

The fishing rodeo will be held in conjunction with the dedication of the new municipal pier. Waveland Mayor John Longo and city aldermen will be present at the ribbon cutting at 10 a.m.

Children's registration for the rodeo will begin at 5:30 a.m. with no registration fee. Participants may fish from the Waveland pier free of charge. Scales will be open from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. with judging and awarding of prizes to follow. Refreshments, tackle and bait may be purchased at the pier. Entertainment will be provided throughout the day by William Marshall.

Diamondhead Nine Holers establish Engelhorn memorial

The Diamondhead Women's Golf Association Nine Holers has announced the establishment of a memorial trophy to be awarded annually in memory of longtime member Marion Engelhorn of Bay St. Louis.

Englehorn, the wife of Eddie Englehorn and a golf enthusiast, died June 26.

The "Marion C. Engelhorn Award" will be bestowed upon the most improved golfer each year, according to Ethel Primeaux, president of the Nine Holers organization.

Ole Miss Sports Hall of Fame to induct 24 standout athletes

Twenty-four new members will be inducted into The University of Mississippi Athletic Hall of Fame during 2 p.m. ceremonies Saturday, Sept. 3, at the Ramada Renaissance ballroom in Jackson.

The pubic is invited to a 3 p.m. reception for the honorees, all former Ole Miss athletes or members of the Athletic Department staff. The Alumni Association, which is hosting the event, urges all university alumni and supporters who are in town for the Ole Miss-Memphis football game to attend.

The inductees were chosen by the University's M-Club Alumni Chapter.

Inductees from Mississippi are Arnold L. "Showboat" Boykin of Taylor, Charlie Denver Brackeen of Union, Raymond Brown of Pascagoula, J. Paige Cothren of Southaven, Edward S. BWYC Boh trophy winners to compete in Lipton Regatta

Bay Waveland Yacht Club holds its annual round-robin for the Boh trophy this weekend, Aug. 20-21. The series determines the four skippers and two alternates who will represent the club in the Gulf Yachting Association championship Lipton Regatta.

This year the Lipton is being held in Pensacola, Fla. because BWYC, the defending champion, cannot host the regatta two years in succession. The Lipton is scheduled for Sept. 3, 4 and 5.

The skippers competing this weekend in the Boh series are Dennis Stieffel, Rod Stieffel, Bishop Stieffel, Peter Merrifield, Corky Hadden and Ellen Eagan.

Activities start with a skippers' meeting at 9 a.m. on Saturday, followed by six races during the weekend.

NCAA ranked MUW volleyball team to begin tournament play

Mississippi University for Women's volleyball team will open at home this season in the annual MUW Invitational Tournament Sept. 16-17.

MUW's annual classic is one of five tournaments on the 1988 schedule. Coach Samye Johnson's spikers will travel to Lakeland, Fla. Oct. 7-8 for Florida Southern College's yearly competition. MUW is also entered in Southeast Missouri State University's tournament Oct. 21-22.

The following weekend (Oct. 28-29), Johnson's team will host the MUW Blues Tournament.

The final regular-season tournament on the MUW schedule will be Nov. 4-5 at West Georgia College.

In addition to tournament play, the team will compete in a tri-match at Montevallo, Ala., Sept. 23-24 against Huntingdon College and Montevallo University.

Although Johnson lost two starters to graduation, she will have a strong nucleus of players returning to the lineup, including incoming senior All-American Lee Cole. Recruits include 5-7 setter-hitter Lou Ellis, a freshman from Huntsville, Ala.

Johnson, whose teams are consistently nationally recognized, is beginning her 10th year at the Blues' helm. Johnson's team ended the 1987 season with a 27-9 record and a second-place ranking in the South Region of Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Named NCAA Division II 'Volleyball Coach of the Year' in 1985, Johnson has compiled a 270-121 record at MUW during the past nine years.

Fishing
Summer Spinnerbaits

Many anglers consider the spinnerbait the best lure ever developed for bass fishing.

After all, it can be fished slow or fast, shallow or deep, around cover or in open water, and it can be effective in both clear and dingy water.

Despite all these accolades and its proven record for catching big bass, spinnerbaits are often ignored during the summer months.

When bass vacate the spring shallows and head for deeper points and dropoffs, plastic worms and jigs are considered better lure choices.

"Not necessarily," laughs Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member Ricky Green, considered one of the nation's best spinnerbait fishermen.

"On certain lakes summer largemouths do not always move to deeper water. They remain relatively shallow, and where they do is usually prime spinnerbait water."

Green points out that in lakes with heavy grass and weeds, bass can frequently be found in water less than 10 feet deep, even during the hottest part of the summer.

Likewise, lakes that have other cover, particularly stumps, fallen timber, and brush will also attract and hold bass shallow.

Green likes to fish a tandem blade spinnerbait around shallow grass, using a 3/8-ounce model with Size 5 and 3 blades. He doesn't "buzz" the lure near the surface, however, but rather, likes to drop the lure into openings in the grass.

"Frequently, big patches of vegetation will have large open areas inside them," explains Green, "and you can make a short cast that lets you retrieve the spinnerbait across this relatively open water.

"Instead of really racing the bait across, I make a cast and let the lure fall down beside one of the edges. Then I bring the spinnerbait back up near the surface where I can see it and slowly reel it back as close to the edge of the grass as I can."

Green also works edges of vegetation with his spinnerbait, bumping the greenery the same way crankbait anglers like to richochet their lures off stumps and logs. He keeps the spinnerbait as close to the cover

Gulf fishermen find options with butterfish industry

By Ralph J. Ballew
Mississippi Cooperatrive Extension Service

BILOXI—A retrofitted purse seine boat, riding low in the water from its cargo of freshly caught butterfish, docks at Clark Seafood in Pascagoula for unloading.

This event has occurred weekly since March, as vessel Captain Jim Rearhard brings his 'Captain Grumpy' boat in from a three-day fishing trip in the Gulf.

This particular catch of 50,000 pounds is made up of mostly small butterfish, weighing from 60 to 80 grams (about four ounces).

Seven boats have been retrofitted to harvest butterfish. Mississippi State University's Sea Grant Advisory Service plays a leading role in this process.

"Because of our close working relationship with shrimpers and our knowlege of their equipment, we help evaluate and select the vesels most likely to profit from retrofitting," said David Burrage, extension marine resources specialist.

"Before we retrofitted this boat to catch butterfish, we were harvesting various fin food fish," Rearhard said. "We had to do something. We have three boats, and two of them can take care of the market demand for fin fish."

While Rearhard is pleased with his present catches of butterfish, he also has limits on what he can do with this species.

"I'm limited on the number of days I can fish on one trip," Rearhard said. "We can't hold butterfish more than three days on ice before freezing. Too, our present market is limited, especially for the small fish we are now catching."

Rearhard usually travels about 60 miles into the Gulf, arriving in early morning to start fishing. It takes his crew about 15 minutes to set the nets and they drag about 30 minutes.

"We try to work a certain depth—from 180 to 900 feet and usually fish east or west," he said. "Sometimes we can find the fish with sounders and sometimes we fish with no sounding equipment."

The capacity of the Captain Grumpy is 300,000 lbs., but the ront tanks are used to carry ice.

"We take about 60,000 pounds of ice on each trip," Rearhard said. "When the butterfish are brought on board, they immediately go into a mixture of ice and water in a tank. The water is circulated to melt the ice—bringing the fish temperature down to 37 to 38 degrees F. During the winter, we can keep the temperature at 28 degrees."

Rearhard first started fishing for butterfish in March and will continue through the year as long as he can catch the fish.

And, while he has an agreement with Clark Seafood, he doesn't receive any money for the catch until Doug Horn, owner-manager of Clark, sells the fish.

"We sell straight to a dealer that freezes the fish and exports them to Japan," Horn said. "By not paying for the fish until they are sold, the captain gets an incentive for delivering quality fish."

Clark said better prices are paid for larger and better quality fish.

"For us, from where we started until now, this has been a good deal," Clark said. "We wouldn't have been catching anything in this volume."

And while the butterfish are small, Clark said local people have tried and like the fish. He is optimistic about market development for butterfish and the entire coastal herring complex in this country.

as possible at all times.

When he is fishing the edge of a grassline, Green often switches to a tandem willow leaf spinnerbait, because the blades produce an extraordinary amount of flash that helps attract bass. The leaf-shaped blades also cut through vegetation very well. His preferred blade size choices are 5 and 3.

"One thing I like to do with my willow leaf blades," says Johnson Outboards pro," is bend the last 1/2-inch of the big blade up at about a 45 degree angle. It adds vibration so you can feel the lure working, and it does not affect the performance or balance at all."

A productive technique with shallow blade grasses is to cast a spinnerbait back over the vegetation and bring the lure back with a fast retrieve that literally keeps the lure hopping and skipping through the greenery.

At times, the lure will even be out of the water, but if fish are in the grass and are active, they'll hit the lure. If they hit and miss the lure, you can frequently cast to the same spot with a plastic worm and get another strike.

For this type of fishing, tie on a tandem-blade willow leaf spinnerbait with Size 5 and 3 blades. Work the lure with 14 or 17-pound test line, and check the line frequently for abrasions.

When there is no grass to fish, look for shallow cover like stumps and fallen trees, the true home for a spinnerbait. The backs of coves and tributary creeks are good places to locate cover like this, even in deep, clear water lakes.

"Around cover of this type a slow-moving spinnerbait often generates more strikes than a fast-moving one," notes Green, "so a slightly smaller spinnerbait, such as a 1/4-ounce size, might be needed.

Bring the lure back as close to the cover as possible, even bumping it, on each retrieve."

For this type of fishing, Green again recommends using a tandem blade spinnerbait, either a small willow leaf or a standard lure with Colorado or Indiana blades.

Occasionally Green will "drop" a spinnerbait into slightly deeper water around cover. When doing this, he prefers a single blade spinnerbait with a much larger Size 7 or 8 blade. The big blade has both flash and vibration and frequently attracts large bass.

"When you drop or 'kill' a spinnerbait," explains Green, "it's always better if you cast well beyond your intended target and keep the lure near the surface as you retrieve up to that target.

Then, simply stop reeling and let the spinnerbait fall right down beside it.

"Keep a tight line as the lure drops so you can feel the blade vibrate, and if that vibration stops for any reason, set the hook. Most spinnerbait strikes are hard, but some are so soft you never really feel a thing."

Green also likes to use a large single blade spinnerbait at night for summer bass fishing, and he's taken several fish in the eight-pound class by simply casting and reeling the lure straight back with a slow, steady retrieve.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, until 9:00 a.m. September 6, 1988, and shortly thereafter publicly opened for:

CONSTRUCTION OF SURFACE AND SUBSURFACE DRAINAGE AT THE HANCOCK COUNTY FITNESS CENTER.

The award, if made, will be made to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the published total quantities.

Plans and Specifications are on file in the offices of the Hancock County Chancery Clerk and Lawrence L. Seal, County Engineer, 113 Telly Road, Picayune, Mississippi. Plans and Proposals may be secured upon payment of $25.00, which is not refundable.

Certified check or bid bond for five percent (5%) of total bid payable to Hancock County must accompany each proposal.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Certified check or bid bond will be returned immediately to unsuccessful bidders. Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner the condition under which the proposal is tendered will be considered an irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

A performance bond, or equal, in the full amount of the contract will be required of the successful bidder. In lieu of a performance bond the successful bidder may post with the Board of Supervisors, the full amount of the bid, in cash or its equivalent, conditioned for the prompt, proper and efficient performance of the contract; said cash or its equivalent to be held until the successful completion of the project.

Attention is called to the fact that contracts exceeding $50,000 require contractors to be licensed under applicable laws of the State of Mississippi and have a certificate of responsibility.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi dated this the 1st day of August, 1988.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT NO. 19,256

TO: Defendant, James Dazet, whose present residence and address are unknown, but whose last known address is 371 Valley Park Place, Garland, Texas 75043, and last known Hancock County, Mississippi address is 8812 Hannah Place, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520.

You are the Defendant in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Vivian Cheskin-Ragland, who was succeeded by Hancock Bank as Executor of her estate upon her death.

Plaintiff hereby gives notice that it has filed a Motion for Summary Judgment in this action seeking to conclusively resolve all issues in this lawsuit. Said Motion was filed with the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, and a final hearing on the merits of the Motion will be held before the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi at the County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi on September 9, 1988 at 9:30 o'clock a.m., or as soon thereafter as the Court may consider same.

Failure to respond to this Motion for Summary Judgment could affect your legal rights with regard to the lawsuit that has been filed against you in this matter. Should you elect not to respond to the Motion for Summary Judgment, or appear at the hearing on this matter, Plaintiff will proceed with this matter to a final resolution of all issues in the lawsuit.

This the 9th day of August, 1988.

Respectfully submitted,

State circuit clerks to convene Aug. 25-27

Election-year issues and answers concerning Mississippi's voting law will be the subject of a training program when circuit clerks from around the state meet on Aug. 25-27 in Columbus at the Ramada Hotel.

The one day of training during the three-day Circuit Clerks Convention is being coordinated by the Mississippi Prosecutors College of the University of Mississippi Court Education Program.

The program will include legislative reports on the voting law by Mississippi Rep. Frances Savage of Brandon and Sen. Hainon Miller of Greenville. Constance Slaughter-Harvey, assistant secretary of state for public lands and elections, will also give a law update.

Participants should preenroll for the convention. Registration will be from 8-9 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 26. The convention will conclude at noon on Saturday.

For information regarding the seminar program, contact Dr. Sharon Shayeb, coordinator, Mississippi Prosecutors College, 3825 Ridgewood Rd., Jackson, MS 39211, telephone (601) 982-6590.

Hancock honor students compete in Academic Excellence Tournament

Six Hancock North Central High School students recently represented the state of Mississippi at the National Tournament of Academic Excellence at Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

This tournament is a prestigious national competition for academically talented high school students, covering subject areas of math, science, English, social studies and humanities. Each team competes at least twice.

The students who competed were:

Deedra Foxworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Foxworth of Pearlington. Her honors include secretary-treasurer of her class; Beta Club member; member of Who's Who in American High Schools; Society of Distinguished High School Students; National Honor Roll and Presidential Academic Fitness Award.

Nichole Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Livington. Her honors include Bausch and Lomb Science Award 1987; Math and Science Tournament in Clinton; Women in Science and Technology Convention; Academic Decathlon in Clinton; Hancock County Exchange Student of the Month; and scholarship to Mississippi State University.

Robin Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Perilloux and Mr. Frederick Marshall of Pearlington. Her honors include President of the freshman class; Beta Club treasurer; member of the National Honor Roll; Society of Distinguished American High School Students; Beta Convention Quiz Bowl and Women in Science and Technology.

Jennifer Screiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Screiber of Diamondhead. Her honors include Drama Club board of directors; Bausch and Lomb Science Award; Math and Science Tournament in Clinton; Beta Club Treasurer; English II, French II and Physics Awards.

Sonya Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lee of Leetown. Her honors include Valedictorian; voted Most Likely to Succeed; Society of Distinguished American High School Students; U.S. Achievement Academy; National Honor Society; Who's Who Among American Hich School Students; Presidential Academic Fitness Award; U.S. Army Reserve National Scholar-Athlete Award and Perfect Attendance Award.

Kimberly Oglesbee, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Paul Oglesbee of Diamondhead. Her honors include Salutatorian; Star Student; Who's Who Among American High School Students; Society of Distinguished American High School Students; Academic All-American; Hancock North Central Hall of Fame; Most Courteous; Voice of Democracy Award; Honor Roll; Girls' State; Presidential Academic Fitness Award; Veterans of Foreign Wars Award; Beta Club president and treasurer; MC Academic Decathalon and MC Math and Science Tournament.

Only one school in the state was selected to compete with others across the United States.

PRC Development foundation goal set

Pearl River Community College's Development Foundation has set the goal for 1988-89's Fund Drive at $100,000.

The $122,290 raised during last year's drive more than doubled the Foundation's 1988 goal. Plans for last year's funds include the use of $1,650 to set up six $275 scholarships, investing $6,000 in teaching enhancement grants and spending $1,500 on conference room renovations in the cafeteria.

Monies generated during next year's drive will be used to establish a scholarship fund for needy students not eligible for financial aid, provide additional money for teaching grants and for the establishment of an endowment program to set up a perpetual fund for the future needs of PRC.

The funds will also be used to give cash Excellence and Service Awards to faculty and staff members, as well as awards for employees with 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 and 35 years of service at the school.

Chevron supports Gulf Pine Girl Scout building project

Chevron U.S.A. recently presented the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council a $15,000 check to help build their new Girl Scout administrative and program facilities. Kitty Reid, executive director of the Gulf Pines Council and Leo Seal Jr. a member of the Girl Scout board, received the check from M.D. Hannan, general manager of the Pascagoula Refinery.

Hannan noted that the contribution represented the support of all Chevron representatives throughout south Mississippi.

The new Girl Scout facilities are located on a 4+ acre site in Hattiesburg. The administrative building was completed in April of this year and all the program facilities are slated to be completed by 1990.

Program facilities include a troop activities building, pavilion, swimming pool, and day camp area. Both the troop activities building and pavilion are currently under construction and will be completed by this summer.

The Girl Scout facilities serve over 7,000 girls and adults in south Mississippi's fifteen counties. The new program areas will allow the Girl Scout council to expand its girls as career development, contemporary issues such as substance abuse, and organizational skills such as budgeting and long range planning. "The program possibilities are limitless," stated executive directory Kitty Reid, "now that we have the facilities we can utilize the many human resources here in Hattiesburg—USM, William Carey as well as many of our business professionals here."

The administrative offices will also accommodate the United Way of Lamar and Forrest Counties. The Gulf Pines Council is an agency of the United Way. By sharing facilities both services project a greater capacity to meet the needs of the entire community.

CHEVRON ASSISTS SCOUTS—M.D. Hannan, general manager Pascagoula Chevron Refinery presents a check for $15,000 to Kitty Reid, executive director Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council and Leo Seal Jr., board of directors Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council.

EDUCATION NOTES

MEC focuses on adult literacy

In the state of Mississippi, there are more than 700,000 adults who do not have a high school diploma. This figure represents 46 percent of the state's population. Of these adults, there are more than 400,000 who are functionally or marginally illiterate, which represents 27 percent of the state's population.

According to these figures, provided by the U.S. Bureau of the Census, Mississippi leads the nation with the highest percentage of illiteracy and ranks 47th in having a high-school-educated trained workforce.

This is a problem that has long plagued Mississippi but, fortunately, measures are being taken to eliminate this burden carried by the state for so many years.

The Mississippi Economic Council recognizes the severity of illiteracy in the state and is taking steps to combat the problem. The Council will be publishing a directory identifying public and private programs that focus on adult literacy. Each entry will include a description of the program, who is eligible to participate, and the contact person.

MEC is in the process of solicitng entries for the directory and is requesting that organizations or individuals conducting adult literacy programs contact Nancy Dear at the MEC office, Box 1849, Jackson, MS 39215-1849, or call (601) 969-0022.

Orgeron, Wheeler honored by MSU Air Force ROTC

Thirty-three students in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Mississippi State University were recently honored for outstanding achievement in academics and military leadership activities.

Air Force ROTC offers two levels of two-year courses. The General Military Course, normally taken during the freshman and sophomore years, covers the development of American air power and the contemporary Air Force. The Professional Officers Course, taken during the junior and senior years, covers Air Force leadership and management and American defense policy.

Cadets honored this year included Craig Orgeron of Waveland, a senior mechanical engineering major who received the Professor of Aerospace Studies Award for being the senior demonstrating the most outstanding leadership and initiative, and, on a vote to AFROTC cadets, the Outstanding Cadet of the Year Award for demonstrating exceptional leadership in accomplishing his duties.

Dana Wheeler, a sophomore mathematics major, received an American Legion Scholarship Award for completing the semester in the top ten percent of her academic major and top 25 percent of AFROTC studies.

Waveland Elementary announces kindergarten opening

Aug. 26: No kindergarten students will report to school, only registration of new students.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY HELPERS— Members of the Campus Youth Ministry of Our Lady Academy assisted the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary with the chapter's Child Abuse Education project. The project, which will continue throughout the approaching school year, includes films, printed materials and live presentations in several grades from kindergarten through senior high school. From left are Alison Miller, Amy Pickich, Kim Trowbridge, Melinda Miller and Ramona Martinez.

Krankey awarded ROTC scholarship

Kim Krankey, a student at Bay High School, recently was awarded a four-year Air Force ROTC scholarship. The Air Force ROTC scholarship will provide tuition, most textbooks, laboratory and incidental fees and $100 monthly nontaxable stipend during the academic year. After earning their degrees, Air Force ROTC cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants.

Air Force ROTC is the primary source of commissioned officers for the United States Air Force. It prepares men and women to assume positions of responsibility in today's Air Force.

Air Force ROTC units are located at some 150 college campuses throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. Also students from colleges near Air Force ROTC host installations can attend classes through more than 500 separate crosstown enrollment programs or consortium agreements.

For further information, contact Air Force ROTC, Weathersby Hall, Southern Station Box 5145, University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5145, or call (601) 266-4468.

MILITARY MENTION

AIRMAN 1ST CLASS Douglas R. Linger, son of Eva W. Smolder of Bay St. Louis and Willis R. Linger of Weston, W. Va., has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations. In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community college of the Air Force.

GCCC training centers list local honor students

The President's and Vice President's Lists for the spring semester at Gulf Coast Community College's occupational training centers have been announced.

The President's List requires that the student maintain an "A" average while taking at least 15 semester hours. The student may make no grade lower than a "B" to qualify.

Those achieving this in the West Harrison County Occupational Training Center were Fred N. Kately of DeLisle, Clark Lee Richardson of Bay St. Louis, Dorothy M. Sampson of Pass Christian, Rhea Scafidi of Waveland and Mark E. Toler of Picayune.

To make the Vice President's List, students must maintain a "B" average, earning no grade lower than a "C" while taking at least 15 semester hours.

The list includes Curtis J. Fields, Bennie L. French III, Sylvia A. Jordan, Bridget A. Manuel and Carolyn D. Saucier, all of Pass Christian.

Grant to fund study of holistic education

Dr. Isadore L. Sonnier, a University of Southern Mississippi Department of Science Education professor, is working to increase student enjoyment and interest in learning through holistic education.

To help accomplish his mission—to study and implement holistic education in Mississippi—Sonnier has received a $10,000 grant from the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation, a California organization promoting education in the Southeast.

"Holistic education takes its meaning from the nature of the human mind," Sonnier said. "We have two brain hemispheres that process differently—one visually and one analytically."

People think differently and teachers teach differently because of hemispheric preference, which governs "everything we do and say," Sonnier said.

Sonnier is now conducting research in Jackson and is teaching educators the holistic approach, using earth science as a vehicle. He uses the method for all his classes, in addition to using textbooks he has written.

"Once we iron out all the little problems, I definitely think this will turn a lot of education around," Sonnier said. He said he doesn't know all the answers for improving and upgrading the nation's educational system, but he talked optimistically of future research and further implementation of the holistic teaching method.

IN BRIEF

UNIVERSITY—Two Waveland residents who will be attending The University of Mississippi this fall recently attended the last of this summer's five counseling and preregistration conferences at Ole Miss.

The sessions for high school graduates, transfer students or students entering as adult learners included testing sessions to determine career interests, orientational and instructional meetings, test interpretation, individual counseling and preparation of a class schedule for fall semester, academic advising and pre-registration.

The Waveland residents attending the session sponsored by the Ole Miss Student Counseling Center included Trish Evans and John Dowden.

National Guard reimburses student loan payment

Individuals who enlist in the Mississippi Army National Guard for certain critical military skills may now be eligible for up to $18,000 in student loan repayments, Maj. Gen. Artuhur J. Farmer, the Adjutant General, announced recently.

This is double the amount previously available to members who qualified for the Student Loan Repayment Program. Eligibility for the program is based on the individual's entrance test scores and his or her ability to meet other military requirements.

The types of loans covered under this program are primarily Guaranteed Student Loans and Perkins Loans.

These who join for non-critical skills may still be eligible for the $10,000 loan repayment program, Farmer added. This program will repay 15 percent of the outstanding loan balance or $500 a year, whichever is greater, for each good year of service, up to six repayments.

"An individual who enlists for six years, has $10,000 worth of outstanding loans and meets the other qualifications of the program could have over $9000 repayed by the Guard," the general said. "If they enlist in one of our critical skills, then the amount doubles."

Critical skills in the Mississippi Army National Guard include military police, medical specialist, photojournalist, cavalry scout, cannon crewmember, flight operations coordinator, clerk typist, personnel records specialist, M-1 tank systems mechanic and approximately 90 other skills.

The program will repay student loans incurred since Oct. 1, 1975.

There are other educational benefits which are available to every member of the Guard, regardless of their chosen skill. Members become eligibile for the Montgomery GI Bill upon completion of basic training.

The GI Bill allows for payments of up to $140 a month directly to full-time college students who are members of the Mississippi Army National Guard. Also, the state will pay up to $500 a semester to a state-accredited school for Guard members' tuition and books.

"It's imperative that we get high-caliber people in the Guard today," Farmer said, referring to the enhanced role of the Guard in America's defense, "and we believe we offer incentives now to attract the very best."

More information on the various educational programs of the Mississippi Army National Guard is available at the local National Guard armory or by calling, toll-free, 1-800-962-2443.

Coast Episcopal observes Honors Night

Coast Episcopal High School honored students of exceptional academic abilities at an awards ceremony held at Trinity Church in Pass Christian.

Headmaster Dr. Thomas Bates honored seventh grader Randy Hartwell for placing fourth in the state in the Mississippi Private School Academic Betterment Competition in seventh grade English out of a field of 130 students.

CEHS had several district winners in the same competition including Randy Hartwell, first place English 7; Melissa Catron, first place Spanish I; Virginia Edwards, first place algebra II; Jennifer Burkett, first place chemistry; Katie Grant, first place biology; Ashley Neill, second place biology; and Mark Catron, third place life science.

Each year all students with a year-end average of 90 or above with no grade below an 80 are given a certificate of recognition for this achievement. Receiving certificates were junior Malise Marchal; sophomores Margaret Clarkson, Scott Covode, Virginia Edwards, William Guice IV, Scott Hourin, Katie Grant and Phillip Spinks; freshmen Clay Cazier, Melissa Cornelius, Ashley Neill, Melissa Catron and Rebecca Thompson; eighth graders Jessica Taylor, Stafford Scott and Kristen Bub; and seventh graders Nathan Guice, George Hlass and Randy Hartwell.

Receiving National Educational Development Test Certificates for scoring at the 90 percentile or better as measured nationally were freshmen Clay Cazier and Rebecca Thompson and sophomores Leigh Biggs, Jennifer Burkett, Scott Covode, Billy Guice, Scott Hourin and Hutson Lambert.

Sophomore Phillip Spinks received special recognition as a winner in the Mississippi Junior Academy of Science Class I symposium. Spinks is also the winner of the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Award and was selected as alternate ambassador to the HOBY International Leadership Seminar.

Academic honors for excellent work in various departments began with the Art and Theatre Awards presented by Ms. Reta Ridling to Katie Grant and Margaret Clarkson in theatre and Nathan Guice and Blair Shellnut in art.

English Awards were presented by Ms. Sandra Cazier to eighth graders Jessica Taylor, highest honor; Kristen Bub and seventh grader Randy Hartwell, highest honor. Ms. Madelyn Taylor presented highest honor awards to freshman Rebecca Thompson and sophomore Katie Grant.

Each year the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. recognizes outstanding juniors at more than 200 high schools nationwide. This is the third year a student at CEHS has been recognized. The award, a handsomely bound Oxford Dictionary, was presented by Ms. Taylor to John Roper Jr.

Ms. Taylor also presented certificates to the editors of the Coast Quarterly, the school's literary magazine, Tracy Dillistone, Phillip Spinks, Cherie Little and Katie Grant.

Certificates of recognition were presented to the Scholar's Bowl Team members Malise Marchal, Billy Guice, Phillip Spinks, Scott Covode, Jennifer Burkett and Sean Bell by sponsors Ms. Madelyn Taylor and Ms. Janet Young.

Latin awards were presented by Ms. Rebecca Boudreaux to Randy Hartwell, highest honor; Megan Uram, seventh grade; Jessica Taylor, highest honor; and Stafford Scott, eighth grade.

French II award was presented by Ms. Judith Stevens to Katie Grant and French III awards went to Tracy Dillistone and Malise Marchal.

Ms. Karola Williams presented awards in German I to Clay Cazier, highest honor; Laura Taylor and John Roper Jr.; German II, Jennifer Burkett, highest honor, and Margaret Clarkson; and German III to Alexandria Lindsey, highest honor, and Jon McDougal.

In the math department, Ms. Kanta Sabharwal presented awards to Jessica Taylor and Melissa Cornelius for algebra I and for seventh grade math to Nathan Guice and Randy Hartwell.

Ms. Sabharwal also presented Certificates of Merit to Nathan Guice and George Hlass who placed second out of students from 21 counties in the Alabama-Louisiana-Mississippi Math League contest. She also recognized the Math Counts team of Jessica Taylor, Kristen Bub, Blair Shellnut, Nathan Guice and Angel Puckett.

Ms. Janet Young presented awards to Virginia Edwards, highest honor; Clay Cazier, Ashley Neill and Rebecca Thompson for algebra II and to Kathryn Grant, highest honor; Jennifer Burkett, Scott Covode, Billy Guice, Rea Montjoy and Justin Taylor for geometry.

Science teacher Dr. S. L. Sabharwal presented a certificate from the Mississippi Engineering Society to junior Justin Taylor.

Dr. Sabharwal also presented awards to Kristen Bub and Jessica Taylor in eighth grade science. Margaret Clarkson, Scott Covode and Jennifer Burkett, highest honor in chemistry; and to Sean Bell and Malise Marchal, highest honor for advanced chemistry.

Junior Malise Marchal was awarded the Bausch and Lomb Science Award by Dr. Sabharwal.

Science awards were also presented by Ms. Sandra Cazier to biology winners Clay Cazier, Ashley Neill, Melissa Catron, Kathryn Grant, highest honor; and Rebecca Thompson, highest honor. Ms. Cazier also presented awards to Nathan Guice, George Hlass and Randy Harwell, highest honor, in seventh grade life science.

In the social studies department, Ms. Linda McCulloch presented awards to Rea Montjoy, highest honor; to Sean Bell and Malise Marchal in American government; to Kathryn Grant, highest honor; Billy Guice, Scott Covode, Margaret Clarkson, Scott Hourin and Virginia Edwards for U.S. history; and to Malise Marchal, highest honor; and to Sean Bell in psychology.

Mr. Bill Riggs presented the highest award in civics to Rebecca Thompson, and to Clay Cazier in Mississippi history. Also receiving awards were Randy Hartwell, geography; Jessica Taylor, American history; and Melissa Cornelius for civics and Mississippi history.

Mu Alpha Theta is a national math honor society for high school and junior college students. New members inducted at Honor's Night included sophomores Katie Grant, Scott Hourin and Virginia Edwards and freshman Melissa Catron, Clay Cazier, Ashley Neill, Leanne Stafford and Rebecca Thompson.

Ms. Alicia Ellis, representing the Martha Guild Blue Ribbon Award for outstanding leadership, service and scholarship to sophomore Phillip Spinks.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parish hall of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Pearlington: Lucy M. Mitchell.

Bolian awarded USA scholarship

Albert John Bolian, a 1988 graduate of Saint Stanislaus high school, has been awarded a $3,000 presidential scholarship to the University of South Alabama in Mobile.

Bolian received his scholarship based on college entrance exam scores and high school grade point average.

According to Dr. J. David Stearns, associate dean of students at USA, these scholarships are offered to the most outstanding freshmen entering USA each fall quarter.

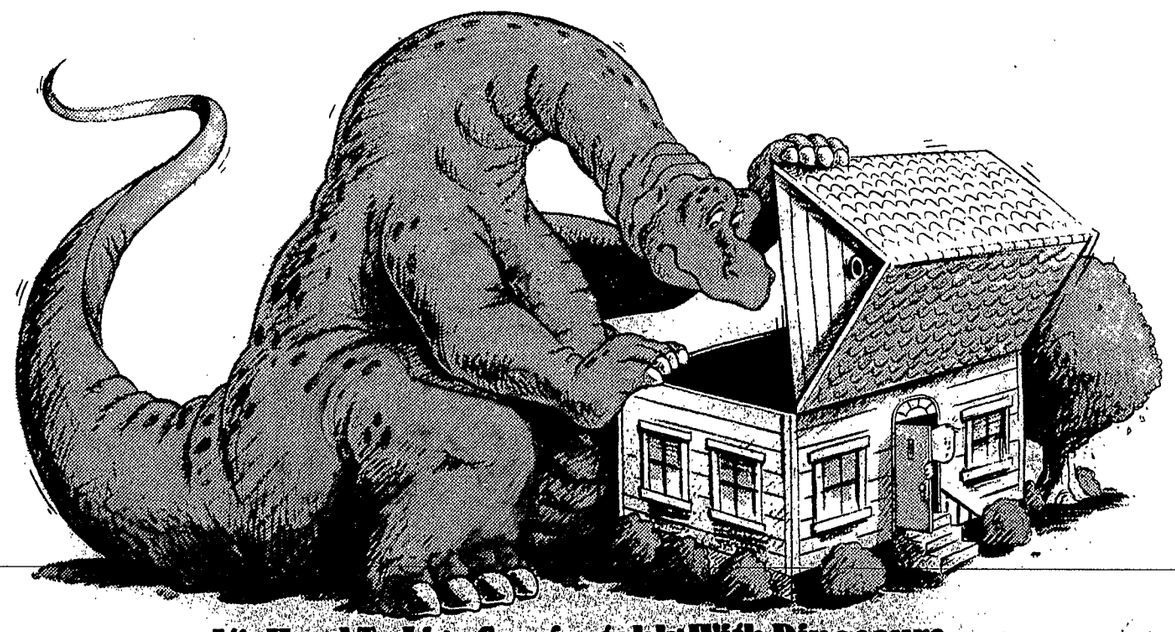

A presidential scholarship requires a 3.5 GPA and a score of 29-30 on the ACT college entrance exam.

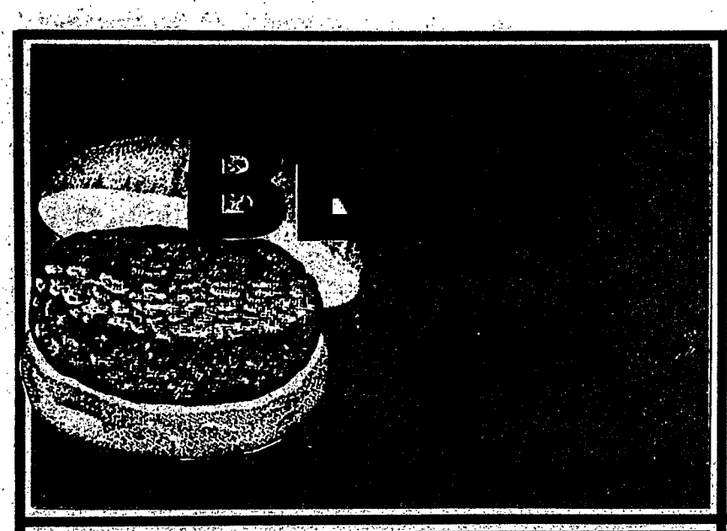

BETTYE MCLEOD has joined the staff of Hancock North Central Elementary School as assistant principal. She comes to the Hhancock County School District from the Greene County School District where she held the position of Chapter I coordinator. Her previous experience includes classroom teacher and elementary counselor. McLeod holds a master of education degree from Mississippi College in Jackson and a BS in elementary education from the University of South Alabama, Mobile.

It's Hard To Live Comfortably With Dinosaurs.
Replace Your Old Air Conditioner And Gas Furnace With The Electric Heat Pump.
Having a dinosaur of an old air conditioning unit outside and a prehistoric gas furnace inside can be very uncomfortable. It's also sending your energy bills through the roof.
You should cool your home this summer with a high-efficiency electric heat pump. It provides a constant, even cooling in your home, unlike drafty stop-and-go air conditioners. Heat pumps are also quieter, more economical and heat homes in winter.
So ditch those dinosaurs. Replace them with the modern, energy-efficient electric heat pump.
If Cools. If Heats. It Saves.

FUNK & WAGNALLS NEW ENCYCLOPEDIA

Build Your Set In Three Easy Steps...

Volume 1 only 9¢

SAVE $4 on Volume 2 –now only 99¢

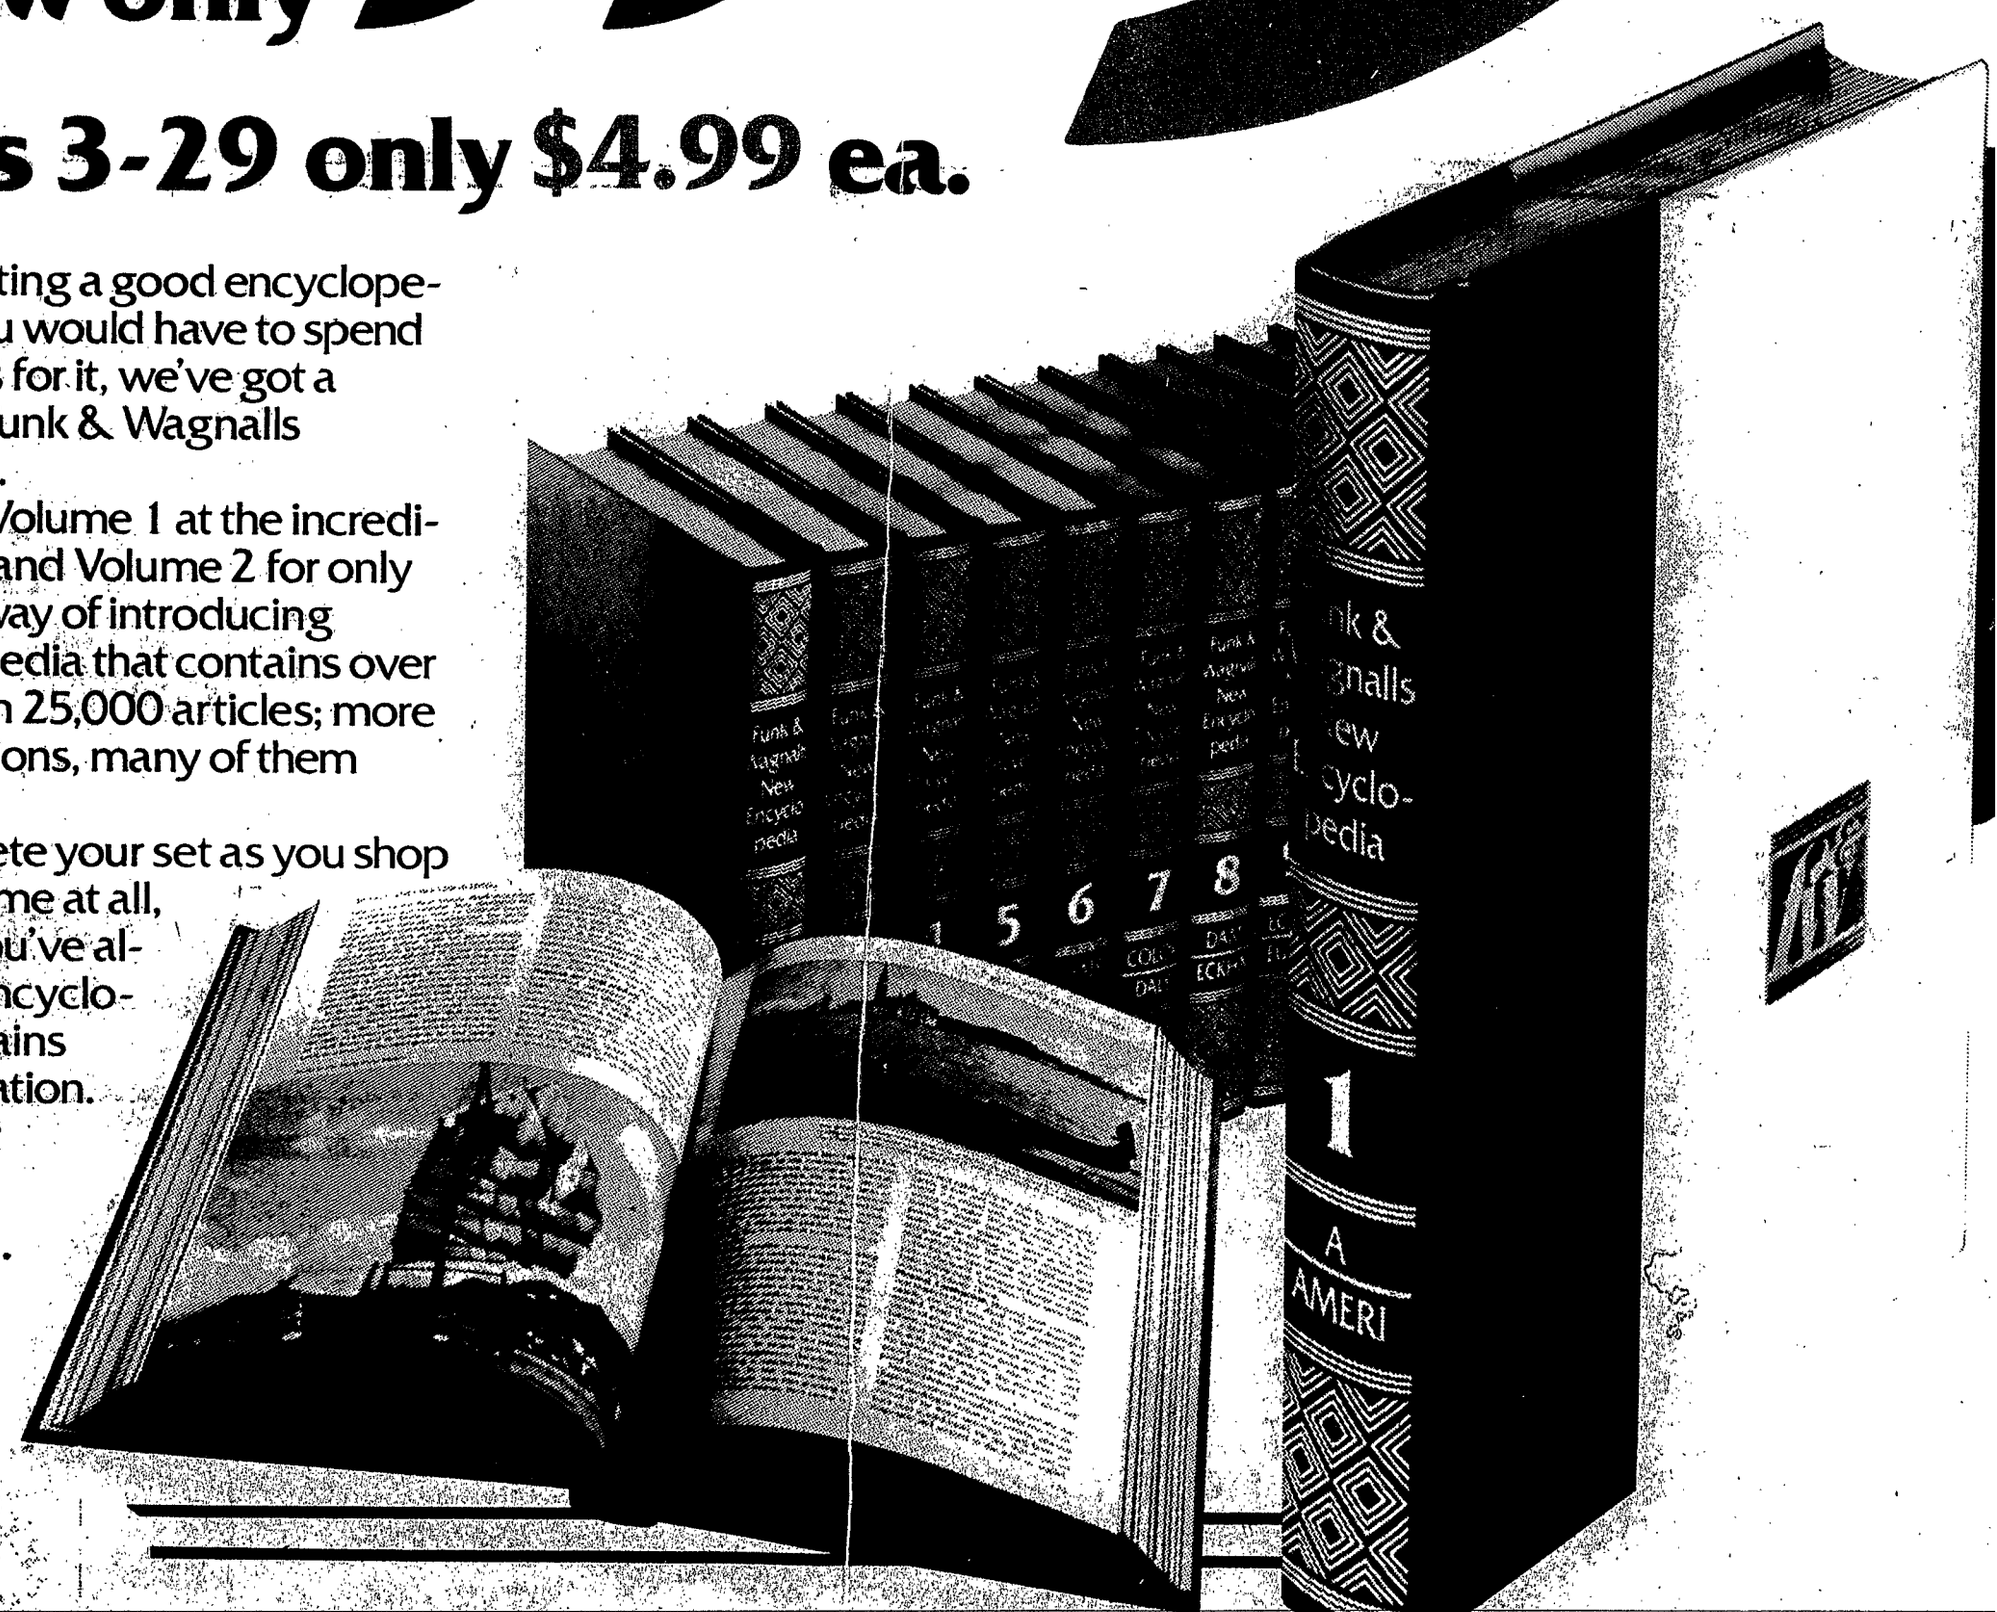

Volumes 3-29 only $4.99 ea.

If you've been wanting a good encyclopedia, but figured you would have to spend hundreds of dollars for it, we've got a surprise for you... Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

We're offering Volume 1 at the incredibly low price of 9¢ and Volume 2 for only 99¢! Which is our way of introducing you to an encyclopedia that contains over 9,000,000 words in 25,000 articles; more than 9,200 illustrations, many of them in full color.

You can complete your set as you shop each week. In no time at all, you'll have what you've always wanted: an encyclopedia set that contains a wealth of information.

But doesn't cost a fortune.

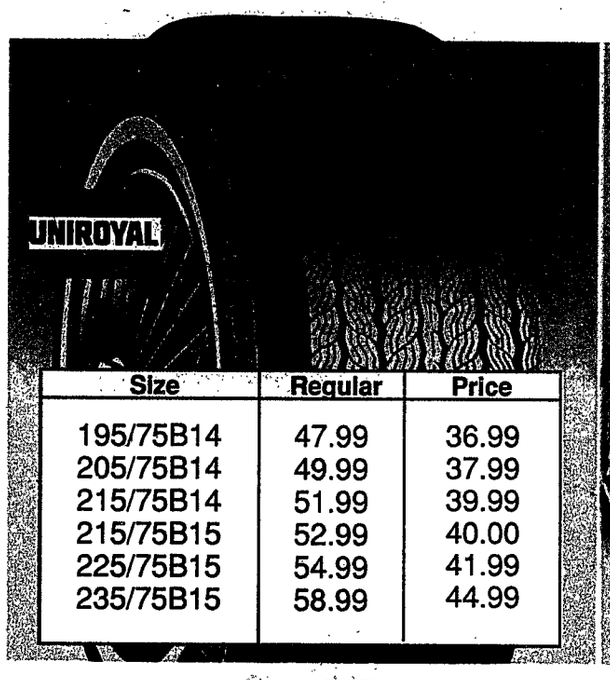

Read what the AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOC. publication, Reference Books Bulletin, Nov. 15, 1986, has to say:
"...Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia ...offers remarkable value for its price...an excellent choice for home, useful for both adults and children."
